FUEL* Magazine wins Gold at 2008 FOLIO: Awards

HOUSTON, TX (October 15, 2008) – FUEL Magazine, the magazine on the global business of fuels, is the Gold Winner of FOLIO's Eddie Award in the category of B-to-B, Energy/Utilities/Engineering, Single Article for "Supplying Staggering Demand" by Louise Poirier from the March 2008 issue.

In the article, Poirier interviewed industry experts to put together an analysis on what was ahead for the industry, from prices and supply & demand, to capital investment and public policy.

FOLIO: magazine's awards drew more than 2,800 entries, which more than 100 expert judges spent weeks evaluating.

"I am delighted to see the hard work of the FUEL editorial team recognized with this prestigious award. Last year, FUEL was recognized for its outstanding design through ASBPE and BMA Awards. This year, FUEL's expert content and analysis is acknowledged with the top award. It shows how rapidly FUEL magazine is becoming a must-read publication for anyone in the business of fuels, refining and transportation." said Kristine Klavers, Publisher, FUEL.

Published bimonthly by industry experts, FUEL provides forward thinking information and analysis about the entire global fuels business, including refining, transportation, sustainability, public policy, finance & investment and biofuels.
